1. Applicant's election of species 1, figures 1-8, in the reply filed on 5/7/2007 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).
2. Claims 5, 8, 10 and 11 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 5/7/2007.
3. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the specification is missing the headings noted in MPEP 608.01(a).

Appropriate correction is required.

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 1-4, 6, 7, 9 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Consistent terminology has not been maintained throughout the claims. The resetting element (6 etc.) of claim 1 is termed a restoring element (6 etc.) in the dependent claims. The discharge opening (3 etc.) on lines 22-23 of claim 1 was previously defined as a delivery hole (3 etc.). As disclosed the resetting/restoring element is the part of the closure device (element 6 is a portion of element 1') that performs the function of automatically opening and closing the delivery channel as is also defined for the additional closure device on lines 16-19 of claim 1. However, the resetting element on line 20 of claim 1 is claimed as a separate and unrelated element to the closure device but is also claimed as automatically opening and closing the delivery channel since it opens and closes the discharge opening which is the outlet for the delivery channel. Consequently, as claimed, there are two unrelated and independent structures competing to perform the opening and closing function.

The last line of claim 2 is redundant to claim 1 because it calls for the restoring element (6) that has already been defined on line 20 of claim 1.

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1-4, 6, 9 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bon. Bon discloses a dispenser head 44 attached to a pressurized dispensing container 1 including a delivery valve 2 which opens upon tilting as claimed when pressure is applied to 45, a delivery channel 11, a delivery hole 20, an additional closure 18 and a dome shaped resetting element 12 that will fill with pressurized product when valve 2 is opened and serves to return the delivery channel to the normal upright position after tilting and closes the valve 18 with the assistance of the pressurized product trapped within 12 as claimed.

8. Claim 7 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
